Upholds Castro Claim

Bella Hits U.S. Base In Cuba

HAVANA (AP) — Announcing "essential identity of viewpoints" in world affairs, Premier Ahmed Ben Bella of Algeria and Prime Minister Fidel Castro agreed Wednesday night that the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo must go.

A joint communique emphasized, however, that the big naval installation in eastern Cuba will be "claimed in its opportunity through international law"—not by force.

Despite the specific mention of Guantanamo, the communique was free of the usual Cuban diatribes against "Yankee imperialism" with which Castro greeted Ben Bella on his arrival Tuesday.

The communique was issued at the end of a 28-hour visit by the premier of the new North African nation, who came here direct from a White House lawn reception and talks with President Kennedy.

The communique said Castro and Ben Bella "considered the unpostponable necessity of evacuating (foreign) troops and dismantling foreign military bases in other countries, including Guantanamo naval base."

This also was a reference to French military forces and bases still in Algeria.

The communique said the two leaders, talking in a completely fraternal atmosphere, also agreed that the only way to maintain peace was through application of the "peaceful coexistence principle."

Ben Bella and Castro discussed the strengthening of ties between their two nations and decided to establish diplomatic relations at the embassy level. Castro also ac-

Hurricane Ella Headed For Carolina Cape

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Ella, carrying 90 mile-an-hour winds and threatening to get stronger, ploughed northward in the Atlantic today. Gale winds already were reaching out to flirt with the U.S. mainland.

Termed dangerous by weathermen, the season's fifth tropical storm was headed approximately toward the Carolina Capes at 7 m.p.h., sending rough seas ahead of her.

Early today the storm was about 375 miles south of Cape Hatteras, N.C.

Gales extended 350 miles to the north and 25 miles to the south of the center.

Forecasters predicted Ella would intensify during the day and continue on her northbound course.

Ships 90 miles off the Carolina coasts reported gales and seas to 11 feet Wednesday night. Ella's fringe winds tousled Daytona Beach, Fla., with 40-mile gusts as the hurricane churned along about 325 miles from the Florida East Coast.

Ella's north-northwest course began Tuesday afternoon. Before that, the storm zigzagged between north and west as it gathered strength, in a gradual rise toward the hurricane status it reached Wednesday.

Gales were predicted from Georgetown, S.C., northward to day and all interests from George-

Harvard Professor Receives Nobel Prize

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) —

Three biochemists, two of them Britons and the other a Harvard professor, were awarded the 1962 Nobel Prize for medicine today for their research into the secrets of life—including why a blond child's eyes are blue.

Dr. James Dewey Watson, the youngest at 34, is a professor of biology at Harvard University; Dr. Francis Harry Compton Crick, 46, is attached to the Institute of Molecular Biology at Cambridge, England; Dr. Maurice Hugh Frederick Wilkins, 46, is deputy director of Biophysics Laboratory at King's College, London.

Dr. Wilkins presently is working at Sloan-Kettering Institute for Cancer Research in New York. Dr. Watson received his Ph.D. degree from Indiana University in 1950, was National Science Foundation fellow in Copenhagen in 1951, and studied at Cambridge, England, in 1951, and 1952.

The three were cited "for their discoveries concerning the molecular structure of nucleic acid and its significance for information transfers in living material."

Community Chest Agencies:

570 Boys, 210 Adults Serve Salem Scout Organization

More than 570 Salem boys are served by the Boy Scouts of America, one of the 12 agencies receiving support from the United Fund drive.

Activities of the group, besides the usual Scout functions, include marching in the Memorial Day Parade, arranging and furnishing exhibits in store windows, attending church in a group during Scout Week in February, working on operating with Civil Defense.

More than 210 adults serve the group in Salem.

Two camps are available to the scouts. Camp McKinley near Lisbon is used primarily as a winter camp but is open the year round for troops and posts. The Stone House at McKinley is used as a meeting place throughout the year.

Four cabin-type shelters, one Adirondack area with open end shelter and three large campers are in use at McKinley which has served 230 local Scouts and 51 leaders during the first nine months of this year.

A newer camp is Camp Twin Spruce at Leesville Lake, which is about eight years old. Primarily a summer camp, it is also open throughout the year for use of troops and posts. A more primitive camp than McKinley, it contains six camp sites, a headquarters building, waterfront area with dock, various Scout skill areas and a chapel area.

The Salem Scout organization is in the Shawnee District of Columbian Council and is a part of Region No. 4 of Ohio, Kentucky and West Virginia. Columbian Council was second of all the councils in this region in activities, achievements and growth, and received the President's award last year.

Salem volunteer leaders serving the district are Arden Crumbaker, Robert Sanders, H. I. Beck, James Peters and Robert Boyd. Actively serving the council are volunteer leaders Howard Firestone, Calvin Filler, George Rogers, James Wilson, George Bowman and William Readshaw.

Six Eagle rank awards were earned by Scouts in Salem during the past year.

Anti-Castro Faction In Cuba Hampered by U.S. Actions

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — Element in the Cuban militia and what is left of the old revolutionary 26th of July Movement are ready to take to the hills and fight Fidel Castro's Communist regime, Cuban exile sources here declare.

But these sources add that the internal resistance, which they call the only hope for Cuba's liberation from communism, is being hampered by U.S. actions.

Fidel Castro, who recently made a hush-hush tour of Cuba's interior, is reported in dread of his own former comrades-in-arms in the old 26th of July army.

Mass meetings of "defense committees" are being held all over Cuba. The committees are part of a Communist-style, block-by-block spy system.

Cuba's economic troubles under communism have tended also to arouse disaffection even in the militia. This has so worried the regime, according to available information, that militia members get little ammunition, and their arms and bullets are taken from them at the end of each tour of duty.

One exile leader, Manolo Ray, urges that the United States make it as clear as possible to people inside Cuba that the fight is only against communism and that the United States is on the side of any underground resistance that fights the Red regime.

Ray, who claims reliable contacts with the elements of resistance inside Cuba, fought for Castro in the revolution, which overthrew the Fulgencio Batista dictatorship and became Castro's first public works minister. He fled when the regime veered sharply to communism.

The ex-minister says he believes strategic blunders in the United States have hampered internal Cuban resistance.

One such blunder, he asserts, has been creation of the impression that the United States supports any and all Cuban exiles. Hatred of the old Batista regime persists in Cuba, despite present woes.

He says he feels that 28th of July army men who might take off for the hills hesitate for fear that former Batista people might be among those who would move in from the United States and take over after the fall of the Castro regime. They fear, he says, they would lose their own heads in that event.

Ray says he is sure that if resources were made available to the internal resistance—men are still fighting in the Escambray hills—it could be funneled to anti-Castro forces and would pose a serious threat to the regime.

No 'Politicking' Scheduled Today

President Drew Boos, Cheers In Connecticut

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has an open date on his campaign schedule today, and after Wednesday's lively reception in Connecticut he's probably glad to have this day of comparative rest.

For Kennedy drew one highly enthusiastic audience — and got one loudly boozing reception — during his 60-mile drive through an area that contains a lot of industry and a lot of Democrats.

Kennedy hits the campaign trail again Friday on a three-day trip that takes him all the way to Seattle in his effort to get a Democratic Congress elected Nov. 6. If he runs into similar crowds, it should be an entertaining weekend.

The big crowd Wednesday was at Waterbury, a town that loves, and is loved by, Kennedy. It was so carried away with the President's visit — a police officer thought 45,000 were there — that it threatened to get out of hand. Police scurried over to calm down one segment, seemingly composed mainly of squealing young ladies.

The critical crowd was at New Haven, home of Yale University. Nobody knows for sure who gave the President the raspberry or held up disparaging signs.

But it's the custom on such occasions in New Haven to give all the credit, or blame, to Yale students.

Kennedy didn't seem to be too rattled by the booing or by the signs which carried such sentiments as:

"Will we get to the moon before the Negro gets to vote?"

"Castro loves Democrats."

"Less profile more courage."

Kennedy, a Harvard man, was given an honorary degree by Yale in June, and the President referred to this as he began his talk.

"I have come to this center of learning," Kennedy said, "to come back to my college — Yale — and I have enjoyed that warm reception I have gotten from my fellow Eli's as I drove into this city."

"But they will learn, as this country has learned, that the Democratic party is best for them as it is for the country."

Unlike in Waterbury, where the police rushed over to protect Kennedy from his friends, everything went smoothly in New Haven.

Yale men may boo, but they boo like gentlemen.

All during his campaign Wednesday, as he rode in an open car from Bridgeport to Waterbury to New Haven, Kennedy fol-

End of Report

The report by the Utilities Commission and Superintendent Aubrey Hayes that Salem's municipal sewage plant is again in satisfactory operation is good news to the people of Salem.

Much better news, in fact, than the report by this newspaper on Aug. 7 that neglect of the city installation had rendered some of the costly equipment inoperative. There were cries of unjustified criticism by some persons at the time but the fact that repairs soon were under way and the Ohio Department of Health granted the city only a three-month sewage discharge permit, instead of the normal year, substantiated the findings.

More important now is the fact that repairs have been made and others are in the process of being completed and that the Utilities Commission is receptive to suggestions from the state health department for continued efficient operations of the plant. Qualified, licensed operators are to be put in charge. City Council has been told.

The people of Salem have a big investment in the sewage treatment plant, having spent $1,070,199 in a major overhaul seven years ago, so it is quite evident that operation of the facility is one of great responsibility.

The commission and Mr. Hayes, by their actions, have shown real concern for the problems and we have every confidence in their abilities to see that the sewage plant operations here are among the best in the state.

Wait 'til Bess Hears About It

Either Harry Truman was misquoted in a Las Vegas comment favoring a national lottery to pay for government, or the old boy had plunged into the spirit of the American Legion convention he was attending in the gambling capital of the United States.

Everyone who ever won an office betting pool or cleaned up on a long shot has fooled with the idea of a national lottery. In Las Vegas, where sucker-fleecing has been turned into as posh an art as it is in Monte Carlo, a lottery to end all lotteries might seem like more fun than a campus party raid.

But considered away from the whirring of slot machines, the rattle of dice, the purr of the roulette wheels and the quiet music of packets of folding money being whomped into canvas bags, a national lottery makes no more sense than financing government by robbing banks.

If No Blow Were Struck

A Berlin crisis in November is as certain as Election Day and Thanksgiving.

Premier Khrushchev has done everything but blueprint his next move, which will be a peace treaty with East Germany wiping out the "legal" right of the Western Allies to occupy their sectors in West Berlin.

This, according to the speculators who always think of each Berlin crisis as a casus belli, would start the nuclear blasting and World War III would be full-fledged.

It is just as reasonable, however, to believe that Khrushchev and his advisers are trying as hard to keep from finding a casus belli in Berlin as the Western Allies have been. War is the last thing the Allies want, and it may be the last thing the Soviet Union wants.

Ininitely more useful than war is a talking point—a means of keeping the opposition off balance. That has been the function

The money would still come from the people, where it comes from now. But instead of handing it over to the government as citizens, Americans would be forking it over as gamblers gunning for a long-shot killing. It would be the crookedest game in the country, with the shortest payoff and the longest would be the goats.

And because the game would be crooked, it would breed crooks. Much of the early capital spending in this country was financed by lotteries. In the early 19th century hundreds were authorized by Congress and the states. But by the end of the century lotteries were regarded as a "pestilence." Congress barred them and the Supreme Court upheld its right to protect the people from the "pestilence of lotteries."

Our former president will feel better when he gets back to Independence, Mo., though we shudder to think what Bess will say.

the tactics?

From now on the "candid camera" will be a weapon in every public alteration. Disgruntled employees will compete with one another to get shots of the big boss nodding at his desk and leafing through light literature. Rivals for promotion will be snap-shooting each other dawdling at the water cooler and putting personality into phone calls that were obviously unbusiness-like.

Not that this hasn't been done before, understand, but now it will have the status of hard evidence; it will have been used successfully in a congressional hearing. A swallow doesn't make a summer, but in a sensitive situation a photograph can make a case.

Teen-age daughters have gone back to college and now Mom and Dad can use the phone.

This Could Be Embarrassing

The Federal Aviation Agency promises it will do everything it can to discourage the airplane shenanigans represented in photographs shown to a House subcommittee.

There being nothing else the FAA could do, under the circumstances, it gets credit for making the standard response in the standard manner. But this is not a standard situation.

The pictures that stirred up this fuss are spittework pictures used to embarrass airlines in a fight to hold the flight engineers' union at bay. This is an instance of one union embarrassing members of another union to prove a point, because the shenanigans all show airplane pilots in a bad light.

How this proves things would be better if engineers were on hand in the control room of the airplane is unclear. But what could be clearer than the consequences of

Law of Moses

Could anything in scholarship be more fascinating than the newest translation of the Five Books of Moses—The Torah—the Pentateuch?

Scarcely one of us can claim he has not been affected more deeply and directly by the Bible than by anything else ever written. This includes Magna Carta and the Constitution. Yet is it a fact often ignored by people who acknowledge the Bible's tremendous influence that it is a translation of material written in a language no one has used for a long time.

"Ignored" is not the word for what such people do. Many are as certain in their minds that the entire Bible was written in the English words they are familiar with as that the system now in use for keeping time was handed down to humanity through the centuries.

This is part of what makes the newest translation of the five books of Moses fascinating. The translation is unique, the only one ever made by objective scholars interested in nothing but the actual meaning of language.

Other translations from original texts were influenced by religious motivation. The translators were trying to back up a point of view in some instances. Here is an example:

The new translation of the Third Commandment by a committee of Jewish Bible scholars in the English-speaking world and to be issued next January by the Jewish Publication Society says: "You shall not swear falsely by the name of the Lord your God: For the Lord will not clear one who swears falsely by His Name."

This is close to the King James version, but it makes clear that perjury, not profanity is prescribed by the Third Commandment.

Another example is the Red Sea. Most of us know how the children of Israel went through the Red Sea miraculously when they fled from bondage in Egypt.

But when the scholars dug into original meanings they learned that what the children of Israel went through was a "sea of bull rushes," which became the Sea of Reeds, which apparently became the Reed Sea, and which finally became the Red Sea. In other words, they crossed a marsh where the Suez Canal is today.

This is what makes such scholarship fascinating—not the scholarship itself so much as its impact on mind "conceptually crystallized."

Nothing is harder to cope with than "conceptual crystallization"—a mind made up and not open to change. Anything that shows up in the newest translation of Biblical source material in conflict with older translations underlying "conceptual crystallization" will be resented and rejected. This is the way it always has been. This is the way it always will be.

The subject is delicate—almost too touchy to touch. That is another part of what makes it fascinating. It is not merely an engrossing study of etymology, which is what intrigues scholars. It is an opportunity to see how human nature reacts under various conditions.

Such as what happens when people discover that the Bible was not written in English and scholars alone know what it may have gained or lost in some of the translations the last few thousand years.

Congress, JFK Guilty of Political Irresponsibility

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Never in American history has there been such a clear case of irresponsibility in government as has just been exhibited by the Congress and the President.

The fiasco blamed entirely on either political party, or altogether on the President. It's the fault primarily of a system which provides no way by which the people can hold

Rep. Clarence Cannon, D-Mo., chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, said, for instance, on the floor of the House of Representatives last Saturday:

"I have sat under ten speakers—but I have never seen such biased and inept leadership."

thought of the obligation of office. It is a question of the highest bidder."

In England and Canada, under a parliamentary system, the people have a chance to fix party responsibility, and to assure themselves that, in the same election, they will get a united leadership of the legislative and the executive.

Today, President Kennedy is campaigning around the country charging the Republican party is at fault for failure to enact all his proposals, where in reality this fundamental schism in his own party has brought constant dissension and division.

Mr. Kennedy is saying on the stump that the Republican party has been and is "against progress." But his opponents willfully that the Republican party is really opposed to "progress toward national bankruptcy."

The indicated deficit, for example, for the fiscal year that ends next June 30 is between $6 and $8 billion, although last January the President in his budget message to Congress predicted a surplus.

All this is happening even without any substantial tax cut. In fact, public spending has reached such a high rate that, making no allowance for a tax cut at the January session, the budget deficit for the fiscal year starting July 1 next is likely to be $11.1 billion according to estimates made by statistical experts who study the trends of government receipts and spending.

IF, MOREOVER, there should be a tax cut next year of around $7 billion—which is a modest amount compared to the promises being made—the deficit might reach $18 billion for the fiscal year ending a little more than 20 months from now.

The House of Representatives has wound up with the usual hypocritical speeches, wherein members of both parties praise each other. The past session, of course, deserves a modicum of applause only in the sense that public spending was not allowed to go any higher than it did.

The truth is that Congress has sought to appropriate funds for all kinds of social-welfare and public works projects. All of these doubtless can be defended as worthwhile at some other but can the nation today afford unlimited spending irrespective of consequences?

Can any political party be called responsible if it insists on cutting taxes substantially when deficits are growing bigger and bigger?

A private citizen or business must forego luxuries or even worthwhile projects and see that the budget is balanced lest bankruptcy be induced. Apparently it is reasoned that it's all right for the government to disregard budgets, run a big deficit year after year, and risk a loss of confidence in the monetary unit.

It takes manpower as well as tugs to push this vast tonnage. A unionized boat will average a 17-man crew. Non-union river craft undercuts this by puffing along with as few as 9 men.

ALONG THE OHIO, on the one-thousand-mile stretch of this river from Pittsburgh to Cairo, Ill., businessmen are investing in industry at the rate of a hundred million dollars a month. In all they've put in $18 billion since 1950. A million new jobs have been made. All because of the river and easy transport and vision.

Along the other inland waterways the government has heaped an atomic building program costing some $13 billion since 1950. Not until recently, when I was trailing the Yugoslav motor vessel, Drzic, because it had put into Cuba and then headed for Houston, did I realize the vastness of the river and easy transport and vision.

If Hoffa's new drive pushes the older unions off the rivers, the teamsters will have moved swiftly towards Jimmy H. goal of a national network of unionized transport across the land.

History Today

Today is Thursday, Oct. 18, the 291st day of 1962. There are 74 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this day in 1867, Rousseau formally took possession of Alaska for the United States.

On this date:

In 1540, Spanish explorer De Soto battled the Indians in what is now Southern Alabama.

In 1892, the first direct telephone line was opened between New York and Chicago.

In 1921, the Senate ratified peace treaties with Germany, Austria and Hungary following World War I.

In 1931, Chicago gang chieftain Al Capone was convicted of federal income tax evasion and sentenced to 11 years in prison and fined $50,000.

Old Man River Fascinates Hoffa

By VICTOR RIESEL

Old man river has been fascinating Jimmy Hoffa. So it has fascinated me. Where he goes, I look. For some months now, he has been studying the rivers of the land — the inland waterways. I recall that recently Dr. Werner von Braun told me in Huntsville, Ala., that the trip to the moon will really start on a river barge heading into the Mississippi.

Perhaps Jimmy H. was intrigued with the whimsical thought of booking passage on an early rocket, what with his million dollar trial beginning in a Nashville federal court on Oct. 2.

..BUT HOFFA turns out to be a more practical man. His sudden interest in the nation's waterways is evidenced by his investment in the Marine Officers Association, which he began backing last June. And there is nothing whimsical about that.

I discover that the rivers are busier today than in showboat times or in Mark Twain's salad days. River traffic runs into hundreds of millions of dollars along some 28,000 miles of navigable waterways crisscrossing the United States.

Up river and down, move boat-guided barges run by some 4,000 licensed ship officers and tens of thousands of inland river boat hands.

I don't know where we city people have been, but on the Ohio I learn from the inland waterways experts that a single tow on the lower Mississippi can move 40,000 tons of freight.

Now I know what fascinates Hoffa. This is the equivalent of what 2,000 trucks can carry. This is the equivalent of what 800 freight cars can carry.

You have to look hard for a showboat or an excursion steamer, but you can easily find a "barge tow" of 40,000 tons—more than 1,100 feet long, containing seven acres of freight. It is longer than the Queen Mary or a huge aircraft carrier, specialists tell me.

Some of my girl friends have had the same experience. Why do men pull this? Should a girl ever telephone a fellow and ask what happened to him? — DISAPPOINTED.

EVEN to a factory buff like myself, this is a fantastic "new" industry. There are fleets of these miracle towboats.

They have modern radar screens which show the image of the barges, the towboats, the bridges, the river banks.

There are truly vast fleets of barges in all shapes. Some have steel piping through which gush millions of gallons of domestic wines. There are double deckers; they float 600 cars to market. Some barges are huge vacuum bottles for liquid sulphur.

There are cold barges for frozen meats, hot barges for molten molasses, tank barges for oil, bin barges for coal.

Everything floats. The Mississippi system alone moves some 70 million tons of coal a year to fuel power plants of all kinds, including the atomic.

COME TO THE YOUNGER LEVEL

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: The frost will soon be on the pumpkin and little ghosts and goblins will have their night. While we mothers are still reeling from the expenses of school wardrobes and school supplies, our children will be bringing up the subject of new Halloween costumes.

This year be prepared! Don't rush out and buy new ones. Make your own. It's easy and fun. Your children will love it, especially if you let them help.

For years little girls have loved to dress up as gypsies. Nothing could be simpler than creating a gypsy costume.

A cast-off skirt of yours and a white blouse are the basis. For a sash you will need a wide strip of material long enough to knot around the waist and leave fairly long ends. Don't bother hemming this sash. Just cut it or pink it... if you have pinking shears.

All gypsies must have jewelry and lots of it. Raid your jewelry box for old necklaces. If you can't find enough jewelry, put a box of macaroni. Let your child paint the hard, uncooked circles with tempera, then string them into loops of beads. If you happen to have a can of gold spray paint, lay the macaroni on old newspapers and spray it bold.

For earrings, use large brass curtain rings, tie circles of string to them. The string is then looped around the child's ears!

The finishing touches are a scarf around the head, and for this one night, let the child use real, honest-to-goodness makeup.

Speaking of makeup, lots of little girls are thrilled just to go decked out as their mothers! This means letting them go all of the way, with your discarded dresses, shoes, hats, bags and, of course, makeup.

A one-night stand as "one-eyed Dick" or "Pet Leg Pete" may interest your boys. The first item of a private costume is an old pair of jeans or pants. Cut the pants off about six inches from the bottom, then use scissors and slash a two-inch fringe around the cut edges.

Next add an old black shirt, sash at the sleeves, and a scarf or bandana for his head.

Sashes and brass curtain-ring earrings are used for this as for the gypsies. A ten cent store rubber knife and an eye patch made for your child will complete this costume. To make the eye patch, cut a two inch circle from black construction paper, punch holes on two sides, and pull a string through the holes and tie on the back of the head. There you will have as fine a pirate as ever walked the plank!

Children's sleepers with attached feet may be transformed into many costumes with just a few extras. For instance, add long floppy ears made of soft fabric, a cotton fluff for a tail, a bunny mask and you have Peter Rabbit or Bugs Bunny.

Red sleepers become a devil costume with the addition of a red hot and a long tail. The tail may be made by sewing a tube of red cloth and stuffing it with paper.

Use an old shirt to make a jerkin to wear over the sleepers, make a ruffle collar, a pointed hat, and large pompon buttons and you have a clown!

When Halloween comes around, see what fun it can be. This year let's use our heads instead of our pocketbooks.

Carman-Sanor Nuptials

Are Held In Sebring

Before a background of palms and vases of flowers Miss Patriarch Anne Carman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Carman of 396 W. Virginia Ave., Sebring, was married to William Albert Sanor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Sanor Sr. of North Georgetown, Saturday in St. Ann's Catholic Church in Sebring.

A crown of crystals and pearls held her veil of silk illusion and she carried a cascade arrangement of yellow and white sweetheart roses. Her necklace of crystals was a gift of the bridegroom.

Wearing a sky blue silk brocade sheath with light blue Chantilly lace overskirt, Miss Diana Lou Wogan was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Misses Naomi and Suzie Sanor, sisters of the bridegroom. The bride's mother was attired in gold brocade with matching jacket complemented with a corsage of white roses.

Mrs. Sanor wore a blue lace gown and her corsage was also of white roses.

The American Legion hall at Lake Placencia was the scene of the reception following which the couple left for a honeymoon through the eastern states.

The bride is a graduate of Sebring High School and is employed as bookkeeper by the Terra Industries Inc. Mr. Sanor is a graduate of Goshen High School and is also employed by Terra Industries.

Overpass

of the explored locations would increase the overpass project cost by at least $1,000,000.

Asks More Information

William E. Miller, president of Miller-Holzwarth, Inc., who presided, stated that in order to proceed with work at his company, he needs to know how his plant will be affected by the overpass. He expressed concern about what access would remain to his plant with the construction of the overpass.

"Tomorrow I am going to talk about doing a third of a million dollars worth of business. How can I be expected to operate my business and to maintain employment if I am not informed on what is going on?"

"We can make a single telephone call and move Miller-Holzwarth out of town without a penny's worth of expense. If I can't get the information I need, I'll have to move out of Salem."

In a statement last Saturday, Mayor Cranmer declared access to industries and private properties is included in the overpass plans. He said three roadways will be constructed.

No Previous Objections

Mayor Cranmer pointed out last night that he had heard no objection to the overpass plans for 15 months, until recent weeks.

Toward the conclusion of the meeting, Miller, relating that talk of an overpass at the W. State St. crossing has ensued in Salem "since Dean Cranmer and I were youngsters" and that such an overpass had been built many times in imagination, said the perhaps may Salemites therefore did not realize the project now was nearing reality.

Attorney Earl Miller stressed a belief that Salem will have very little to say about where the overpass will be built, if it is to be built. "In order to get something for nothing, you've got to sacrifice control of the situation. The state and federal government will put the overpass where they want to put it," said the attorney.

Robert Oswald, representing the Chamber of Commerce, declared: "We want an overpass, but not at the expense of industry. We've spent a lot of money in effort getting new industry here. We want not only to bring new industry to Salem but we also want to keep what we have here."

"We are still trying to figure out how the overpass can become a reality and not hurt so many people." He mentioned that the industries directly involved by the present overpass plans employ 300 or more persons.

Oswald suggested that before the overpass project proceeds, a statement from the state clarifying what future changes are to be made to Route 62 should be requested.

Residents in the immediate vicinity of the overpass, whose vision from the front of their homes threatens to be obstructed by solid wall, voice objections to the fact that original plans calling for the overpass to be constructed on piers were changed.

The mayor said: "With solid walls, we won't need any more width and we won't need to take anybody's property. If we build on piers, we have to spread out and use more space."

Asked if public opinion could yet effect a change in the overpass project plans, Mayor Cranmer answered: "All the plans have been approved and the funds are set up. But if pressure were to become great enough, the state could change its mind."

At the conclusion of the meeting, William Miller urged that all present attend the public hearing to be held at 2 p.m. Friday in City Hall.

Toledo Bank Robber Flees With $1,000

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A man wearing a blue jacket and white hat and carrying a paper bag shoved a note at a teller at the Lucas County Branch bank on Star Avenue Wednesday. The teller, Mrs. Teresa Wizowski, complied with instructions in the note to fill the bag with money.

The man, described as 5-foot-6, fled with the money, estimated by bank vice president E. B. Gray as about $1,000. N. A. Stoll, bank manager, and an unidentified but couldn't catch him.

Mrs. Wizowski said her efforts to stall for a chance to push an alarm button were unsuccessful because the man gave her no opportunity. It was at her window that a man held up the bank of $20,000 in January 1961. That robber was caught by federal authorities in Florida.

Off-Course Missile Destroyed At Cape

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A Minuteman missile, off course and headed for the Florida mainland, destroyed itself on signal from the range safety officer seconds after launching from an underground silo Wednesday night.

The spectacular blast rained chunks of flaming debris over a wide area and a Jupiter missile was severely damaged. A photographer was injured slightly while racing to safety.

The missile was far off course—aimed toward the mainland a few miles away instead of out to sea as intended—when it blasted out of the 8-foot-deep hole. The range safety officer triggered a radio signal to destroy the rocket after eight seconds of flight.

Walter Lewis, a documentary photographer recording the launching from a mile away, fell from a platform as he scurried for safety. It was thought at first he had broken a leg, but examination showed he was only cut, bruised and shaken up. No pieces of the Minuteman landed near him.

A fiery chunk of the shattered rocket plummeted onto a launch complex containing a Jupiter missile. The Air Force reported fire caused extensive damage to the Jupiter and some damage to its launch facilities, which are 1 1/4 miles from the Minuteman silo.

ARE YOU INTERESTED IN PROGRESS??

The citizens of Salem are on the verge of receiving some return on their tax dollar. By way of the construction of an overpass over the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks on West State Street.

The engineering has been completed, the design is approved by the Federal Bureau of roads, State Highway Department and the project is ready for construction. Unfortunately selfish interests at this late date have taken it upon themselves to delay, stop or hinder this project. All that remains is a public hearing to be held by the State Highway Department in City Council Chambers on

FRIDAY OCTOBER 19th
AT 2:00 P.M.

This is required by Law and it remains up to you, the Civic minded, progressive thinking citizens of Salem and Columbiana County, by your attendance at this meeting in support of this project to demonstrate to the Highway Department officials that the money spent on this project has the unqualified endorsement of the entire area.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT

Questions And Answers

Q—I have had undulant fever for many years. I feel weak and tired all the time. Is there any cure?

A—Although treatment with a combination of antibiotics can bring about rapid improvement in a person with undulant fever and may even save life these rather than kill the causative germs. When the vague feelings of general debility that follow an attack of this disease in some people are not improved by a course of antibiotics, it is of no use to continue them.

You should consult your doctor for ways to build up your strength both physically and emotionally.

Q—What has caused the great increase in diseases of the heart and arteries and different kinds of cancer in the last 50 years?

A—with an increase in the population and especially in the number of persons living past the half century mark, there was bound to be an increase in the diseases that are more common in persons over 50. Another reason is the fact that we now have better statistics. The U.S. Public Health Service says in spite of the increase in the number of persons with heart disease the death rate per unit of population from this cause has shown a decrease in the last 20 years.

Q—When I lie down at night my heart seems to beat very well for a minute or two then it gives one whopping big beat then it skips a beat or two. It will do this several times and it may keep me awake. After I go to sleep it never seems to wake me. I had to take a physical examination a few weeks ago. The doctor said my heart was OK. Could you please advise me what to do?

A—from your description I would guess that you have extrasystoles. This is a very common condition and in no way related to organic heart disease. The fact that your doctor found nothing wrong with your heart would confirm this. Skipped beats can be a nuisance but thousands of persons live with them.

Smoking may aggravate this condition. If you can train yourself not to worry about these skipped beats you will have less difficulty getting to sleep.

Women Puzzling

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—All women are puzzling, but some women are more puzzling than others.

These are called wives.

A man generally feels he knows a girl until he marries her. It is then she begins to grow mysterious, confusing and unpredictable.

Just what is this elusive quality about wives that sometimes enchant, sometimes annoy, and always befuddle their husbands?

To be specific, I asked 32 husbands to give a one-sentence reply to this question: "What is the thing you find hardest to understand about your wife?"

Well, the husbands had been in bondage from periods varying from four months to 39 years, and their answers showed a wide, wide range.

The four-month husband expressed surprise that his bride expects him to agree with her views on everything from the outcome of movies to the personalities of people and the expenses of furnishing an apartment.

Chastened by experience, the 39-year veteran in marital harness wondered only, "Why won't my wife pay my club dues like other wives do?"

Gallantry is by no means dead in husbands. Seven, married from 1½ years to 37, voiced profound gratitude. They were humbly surprised that their wives had married them in the first place and, in the second place, had remained married to them after finding out their faults.

Said the 37-year husband: "I still can't understand why she tries to break her neck trying to please me—so help me!"

23-year husband: "What I don't understand is how my wife has managed to stay so dumb. She still thinks everything in life is cute."

11-year husband: "Why will she believe something I've been telling her for years only when she hears it from someone else?"

21-year husband: "Why does she still talk so much? What is there left for her to say?"

25-year husband: "Why is she so completely sure that she is always completely right?"

35-year husband: "Why is it she never admits she made a mistake?"

14-year husband: "What I don't understand about her is why she doesn't understand me. I've been around long enough."

One husband had an odd complaint: "Why does she trust me so much when I tell her I'm going to spend a night out with the boys? We've only been married 28 years."

Now you know what it is that husbands find hardest to understand about wives. It all boils down to one thing: Most wives act like women—only more so!

Add Seedless Grapes to Lamb Curry

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

Curried main dishes, of meat or poultry, are usually served with mango chutney. But if that luxurious relish is not at hand, or you want a change of pace, add grapes to the curry dish and the traditional chutney accompaniment won't be missed.

The grapes that do most for curry are the seedless variety called Thompson, after their first California grower who—about 75 years ago—got three of their cuttings by chance and developed the fruit. This pale green pretty grape, with its sweet and delicate flavor, is used extensively in making raisins.

The following recipe for lamb curry makes delicious use of these grapes. With this dish serve hot cooked rice, of course. If pappadums are available in a food specialty shop in your neighborhood, you might use them as breadstuff. These crisp wafers, of Indian origin, puff up when fried in fat and make a crisp and delectable contribution.

It's not necessary to serve a cooked vegetable with this curry. But it would be well to put a simple salad of tossed greens on the menu.

For dessert after curry, lemon sherbet is always a refreshing choice. If you are moved to follow the exotic example of a New York hotel restaurant, you can add rose-petal preserves and crushed cardamom to the sherbet. Sometimes we follow another New York restaurant and serve a white butter cake filled and frosted with whipped cream and shredded fresh coconut for dessert.

Remarks were given by Mr. and Mrs. Mathew Morvatz, deputy from Carroll County, Mr. Smith, Mrs. Vance Hurless, William Woodruff, Pomona past master, Norman Barnett, special deputy, and Jack Pozenel, Columbiana County deputy.

Lunch was served by Yellow Creek Grange.

The rose is the national emblem of England and Iran.

cook onions and curry powder in it over low heat, stirring often, until onions wilt. Add lamb and brown.

Add water, salt, ginger, cardamom and mustard; cover and simmer until lamb is tender. Cool and refrigerate so fat hardens in a top layer. At serving time, remove most of the hardened fat and heat gently; stir in undiluted evaporated milk and grapes; reheat. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Note: If more liquid is needed before lamb is tender, add water a little at a time.

cuts in your freezer for use another time. Have the rest of the meat removed from the bone and cut into pieces for use in the curry. Boned shoulder of lamb is another good choice for a curry dish.

Add water, salt, ginger, cardamom and mustard; cover and simmer until lamb is tender. Cool and refrigerate so fat hardens in a top layer. At serving time, remove most of the hardened fat and heat gently; stir in undiluted evaporated milk and grapes; reheat. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Note: If more liquid is needed before lamb is tender, add water a little at a time.

Quakers Seek 5th Win As Wellsville Invades Friday

Mothers, Fathers Will Be Honored

Mothers and Dads Night will be observed when Salem entertains county rival Wellsville at Reilly Stadium Friday at 8 p.m.

The Quakers will try to snap a two-game losing streak in which 82 points were scored against them.

Wellsville, plagued with injuries to four regulars, hasn't been very impressive this season, winning one of six clashes.

Coach Blaine Morton's squad started off the campaign in brilliant fashion with four straight victories.

Halfback Dave Taus hasn't practiced this week. He was sidelined during the Hoban 52-13 defeat last week.

Morton plans to dress Taus for the Wellsville tilt, but doubted that he would see any action.

Taus suffered a pinched nerve in his shoulder during the early minutes of the first quarter of the Hoban battle.

The Bengals have been strong during the initial two periods of every game this season. Following Wellsville's 26-12 loss to Weirton Madonna, Coach Kenny Wood's said, "we looked terrible against them."

Salem's drills this week have been stepped up defensively. Morton felt that the squad's tackling had shown some improvement during the workouts.

With Taus out, either Mike DeRienzo who scored four TD's in Monday's reserve game, or Lenny Filler will fill the left half-back vacancy.

Ernie Davis Works Out With Browns

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ernie Davis, the Cleveland Browns' prize rookie sidelined by leukemia, has been working out for a week and says he feels pretty good.

Davis said Wednesday his wind is good, his legs are in shape and he is eager to play some football.

Doctors have said the disease is in a state of remission and they approved his working out. However, Club President Art Modell said Davis would need a couple of weeks more of exercises and running to get in shape.

Davis takes calisthenics with around League Park field, where the Browns hold their practice sessions.

Braves Sign Former Indians' Pilot Bragan To 1-Year Pact

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Vern Burke of Oregon State is grabbing passes at a record rate and West Texas State's Jerry Logan is making a one-man race of the individual scoring struggle, according to the latest NCAA individual college football statistics.

The players and the fans will know I'm around. I'll be in sight a good deal of the time," said Bragan as he took over the job Wednesday with an introduction from Milwaukee President and General Manager John McHale who said, "I like the mouthy type of manager."

"I'm on cloud nine," said Bragan, given a one-year contract, as he stepped into a managerial hot spot. He's the third Milwaukee manager since 1959 when Fred Haney quit. Charlie Dresen couldn't get the club above fourth in a month less than two seasons and under Birdie Tebbets last season they were fifth, their lowest finish in the National League since moving from Boston 10 years ago.

Bragan was optimistic about the future, saying, "the club has experience, a lot of good ball players. I have seen the club's personnel for some years now and I think we all can get the job done."

He said he was impressed with every phase of the Braves' operation except the outfield. "I think Henry Aaron is the greatest, but the other two fields have to be strengthened."

In talking about changes, the 44-year-old Bragan said he feels he has matured since 1956 and 1957 when he managed the Pittsburgh Pirates and 1958 when he guided the Cleveland Indians for the first half of the season.

He managed at Spokane in the Pacific Coast League until 1960 when he went to the Los Angeles Dodgers as a coach. He moved over to Houston to scout for the Colts in 1961 and coached there the last season.

Demonstrating new '63 Chevrolet truck features the hard way!

When we came to a river we got wet. This river bed was paved with rocks the size of melons. What a test for new light- and heavy-duty suspension systems this was!

Users of new conventional medium- and heavy-duty units who have to operate in close quarters are going to like the narrower front ends (up to 7 inches).

New engines, suspensions, frames and narrower front ends show their stuff on Mexico's tough Baja Run!

With months of proving-ground tests under their belts, why did new Chevrolet trucks take on the rugged Baja (bah'hah) Peninsula?

This is the toughest line of trucks Chevrolet has ever built. Sending them over the most punishing terrain in North America (a road totally unlike the fine highways on the Mexican mainland) was double proof of this fact. Frames, engines, suspension systems were subjected to stresses far greater than trucks normally encounter. You can be sure that trucks that can handle this kind of beating can handle any kind of work.

AAU Will Disqualify Participating Squads

3 Major Loops Plan To Enter NCAA Meets, Get Warning

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP)—At least three major conferences, and quite possibly all of them in the United States, are going to enter athletes in NCAA-supported federation meets despite AAU warnings they will be disqualified for international competition.

The Big Six of the West Coast—Stanford, UCLA, Southern California, California, Washington and Washington State—has taken the most vigorous stand so far. It has adopted legislation that it not only will boycott AAU meets but also will not permit the AAU to use its athletic facilities.

The Big Eight also is preparing

Terry Plays Golf After Long Trip

By FRANK ECK
Associated Press Sports Writer
WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP)—What does a World Series hero do 24 hours after he has pitched the greatest game of his life? Well, if he's Ralph Terry and can play golf he goes out on the golf course.

That's just what the 26-year-old pitching star of the World Champion New York Yankees did Wednesday despite having gone without sleep after his series clinching 1-0 victory over the San Francisco Giants on Tuesday.

Terry and 11 other Yankees arrived in New York early Wednesday morning after a 3,000-mile jet flight from San Francisco.

"We sang all the way home," said the jubilant right-hander who won 23 games this season, plus two series games out of the last three played.

At three o'clock Wednesday, 24 hours after Terry had four-hit the National League champions at Candlestick Park, he was at the Metropolis Country Club.

"I had planned to fly home to Laredo, Kan., to see our new baby boy (Frank Gabe Terry, born Oct. 6) but I flew to New York instead to pick up the sports car I won," said Terry. "I'm hoping Tanya, my wife, will receive doctor's permission to join me here this weekend. Tanya has been living with her parents and I'm sure they can handle the formula for a few days."

Terry was surprised to learn that he made only 103 pitches in his 1-0 shutout. He also was astonished to learn that only once did he throw two non-strikes in succession.

"At times it seemed like I was out there pitching for a week, especially to Jim Davenport," Terry said. Davenport fanned off eight pitches in the third inning and four in the sixth. Terry had fanned Davenport four times previously in the series.

"Today? No golf. I'll pick up that sports car and try to catch up on my sleep."

Blanchard, Lopez, Linz Are Bait

Yanks Will Sacrifice Strong Bench For Top Flight Hurlers

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Yankees are prepared today to sacrifice some of their strong bench in order to shore up an undermanned pitching staff for 1963.

Neither General Manager Roy Hamey nor field leader Ralph Houk was in a mood to discuss the matter following the Yankees' hard-fought World Series triumph over the stubborn San Francisco Giants. However it has been learned that such skilled operators as Johnny Blanchard, Hector Lopez and Phil Linz will be used as bait this winter to lure a top flight starting pitcher and an experienced relief pitcher to the Yankee pinstripe.

Hamey and Houk weren't fooled by the World Series in which brilliant pitching carried them to the club's 20th championship. Houk used only six pitchers in the seven games with three—Whitey Ford, Ralph Terry and Bill Stafford—getting the starting assignments. The wily manager, whose manipulation of his pitching staff was one of the highlights of the series, is fully aware that he needs more than three starters and more than six pitchers for the long 162-game schedule next year.

The championships are based on total bases accumulated on all hits and official times at bat. Mantle slugged .605 the past season. In 377 at bats, he collected 121 hits including 15 doubles, 1 triple and 30 home runs for 228 total bases. The switch-hitting center fielder had a .887 mark in 1961. He also led in 1955 and 1956.

Robinson produced 380 total bases in 609 trips for a .624 average.

Among 208 safeties, he had 51 doubles, 2 triples and 39 homers.

Robinson finished on top in 1960 with a .595 mark and in 1961 with .613.

Hank Aaron of Milwaukee was runner-up to Robinson in 1962 with .618. The Braves' outfielder piled up 366 total bases in 592 times at bat, getting 28 doubles, 6 triples and 45 home runs among 191 hits. He won the senior circuit slugging title in 1959.

Houk laughed off reports that Baltimore has offered right-hander Milt Pappas for Blanchard and Lopez but the rumor persists.

Trainer William Hal Bishop

Decisions Haunt Noted TV Writer

decisions that are so tough.

For instance, I just can't make up my mind whether I want to get rid of dirt backwash, have my clothes not just clean but clean clear through or put some muscle in my washing machine.

Is my hair normal, easy to manage or hard to manage? Is it really what's up front that counts or does fine tobacco gentle the smoke as it travels mouth-wards? And, if so, why am I fretting about that extra margin?

Do I want double-pleasure or an assortment of gay colors in my chewing gum? Why can't I get my family to brush after every meal? After all I find time to give myself a soap beauty treatment three times a day. Would I rather have the girls in my bridge club see the ugly stains in my sink or know that my little family is protected by the germicidal action of my scouring powder?

Do I want fast, fast relief from pain of headache, or would it be better if I took another pill to stop snapping at my poor old mother who only wanted to put some salt in the stew?

I tell you, these are the things that keep you tossing through the morning hours. Maybe I'll just put myself on a commercials diet until this trouble clears up.

ABC will slip a new color film, "A Story of David," into its Sunday night movie spot on Nov. 18—a radical departure from its policy of showing vintage movies.

The two-hour show was originally made in the fall of 1960 in Israel for a two-part television special for network use but was not ready in time for that season.

Preliminary popularity ratings, based on a 30-city Nielsen survey, indicate that, among the season's new shows, the audience still loves "Lucy" best, with "Beverly Hillbillies" and "The 11th Hour" in place and show positions.

Recommended tonight: "The Hitchcock Hour," CBS, 10-11 p.m. chairman.

Nikita Wants To Postpone Another Crisis Over Berlin

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Evidently Premier Khrushchev once again wants to postpone a serious crisis over Berlin, perhaps beyond the first of next year.

The Soviet press gives the strong impression that the Kremlin is not ready for a showdown and the risks it would involve.

There seems a distinct relationship between Western toughness and Soviet tractability. The firmer the West, the more cautious the Kremlin drive seems to be.

Pravda and other Soviet propaganda organs appear to strive desperately to dispel the idea that a major crisis over Berlin's future is coming in the immediate future. The Soviet press chides those who speak of a Berlin "crisis," calling such talk warmongering to heat up the international atmosphere.

Another clue: The annual list of slogans for the 45th anniversary of the Communist revolution, to be celebrated in November, is much softer in tone than the slogans issued last spring for May Day.

The slogan on Berlin, for example, reads this way: "Peoples of all nations demand the conclusion of a German peace treaty and the transformation of West Berlin into a free demilitarized city." That's all.

May Day slogans demanded conclusion of such a treaty in the swiftest possible time and violently denounced alleged Western plans to transform West Germany into a "hotbed of war."

The slogan concerning West Germany now reads: "Warm greetings to workers and all progressive forces of the Federal German Republic struggling against militarism and rebirth of fascism." That's much milder.

Another clue: The puppet Communist regime of East Germany has just announced plans for its sixth party congress early in 1963.

OSU Homecoming Queen Crowning To Be Held Friday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A record campuswide vote of more than 9,000 ballots has determined who will be Ohio State University's 1962 homecoming queen.

But the queen committee, as usual, isn't telling who she is until Friday night's annual homecoming dance.

Disclosed today were the five candidates, from a field of 10, who got the most votes Wednesday and who will comprise queen and court:

Jacque Albers of Lakewood, a sophomore in arts-dental hygiene; Carolyn Courtright, Columbus, a junior in home economics; Judy Cruz, Quetzon City, the Philippines, a graduate student in home economics; Marjorie Holycross, Dayton, a sophomore in social work, and Judy Robbins, Columbus, sophomore in nursing.

The top vote-getter of these five will reign over homecoming festivities over the weekend and will be presented to the crowd in Ohio Stadium prior to Saturday's football game with Northwestern.

Luncheon will be served in the church dining room at 12:30 p.m. followed by an address by Mrs. Dwight Robinson, newly-elected
